KAISER AGENTS ARE ORDERED TO LEAVE COUNTRY

All Officials Formerly Connected With Embassy Told to Leave

BELIEVE SOME ARE SPIES EMPLOYED BY GERMANY

First Step Taken to Stamp Out Spy Menace In America

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, July 7. — Heinrich Schaafhausen, former German embassy attache, whom the United States government has decided to send out of this country, was placed on board a Norwegian steamship by agents of the department of justice here today. The ship sailed this afternoon.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, July 7.—All Germans, formerly connected either with the German embassy or any one of the many consulates in America have been requested to leave the United States. Notification that their presence in America is undesirable has been sent to them by the state department.

The Germans who principally are clerks or servants were not told that they were suspected of being spies. The inference that their loyalty to the kaiser might make it difficult for them to remain in this country without attempting to send information of a military character to their government was made clear.

Among the first to go will be Heinrich Schaafhausen, formerly attached to the German embassy, but left behind by count von Bernstorff, and since attached to the department of German interests of the Swiss legation. In addition to to Schaafhausen there is a long train of clerks and servants—at least they have served in such capacity in this country—although this government has no means of knowing definitely what the exact status of most of them is with the German government. There is ground for belief that some of them are persons of more importance to the German intelligence system.

Dr. George Berthelme, the author of the much-discussed dispatch to the Cologne Gazzette at the time diplomatic relations were severed, still is in Washington, but is required to report to certain government officials in person twice a week.

Although the bulk of the German and Austrian embassy staffs departed with their ambassadors, two of Germany's allies still have their representatives here.

Abdul Hak Hessein Bey, charge of the Turkish embassy, pleaded with the state department not to insist on his departure. His wife is an English woman, and on the ground that her health might be affected by going to Constantinople, Bey has been permitted to remain here.

The Bulgarian minister also still is at his legation.

There are many indications that the government is taking steps to tighten the spy net and make even more difficult the getting of military information to Germany.

When the government agreed to allow the transfer of many former German employes to the Swiss legation and consuls there was no state of war between the United States and Germany, but the declaration of war and the knowledge that Germany maintains an efficient syp system here have changed the government's attitude.

The Grimm-Hoffmann affair in Switzerland in which a member of the Swiss federal council was forced to resign after being discovered as a German intermediary seeking to influence Russia towards peace, had a deep effect here in convincing officials that at least some members of neutral governments were using their positions to bring pressure on the belligerent powers. It is not desired to increase the possibility of such work through the added pressure brought by former German officials still in office here. Moreover America's relations with some of the neutrals have become delicate through the export control provisions and Germany could easily use her position to increase friction there. The cleaning out of former German officials here is the first step in a systematic attempt to root the spy system out of this country.

State department officials say that an iron-bound censorship will be established on all outgoing cables in line with President Wilson's proclamation at the earliest hour that the machinery can be built up.

They are also most urgently urging a mail censorship, beginning at first with all countries not now covered by the British, and as soon as possible including that as well.

State department officials pointed out today that the dimissal of the German representatives and the internment of Carl Heynen, F. A. Borgemeister and Prof. Jonathan A. W. Zenneck, in New York, were not the immediate outcom eof the recent spy agitation.

ART SELLS CHEAPLY

Toledo, July 7.—An oil painting of Abraham Liacoln, valued at $300 stolen last night from the home of Dr. I. H. Hammer, was recovered today in a saloon. The thief sold it to a bartender for one dollar.

COSHOCTON LEADS IN LOW PRICES ON FOOD; AVERAGE PRICE PREVAILS HERE

The price of foodstuffs is the thing that is holding the greatest attention of the American people today, and the recent bounding of prices, which have mounted skyward has caused consternation, discontent and talk of combines to uphold the prices.

The past few days reports have been received that Newark was on the crest of the wave of high prices, even over topping the neighboring cities. Today the Advocate wired a number of the surrounding cities, asking for the prices quoted on the country markets in the various cities, and the prices quoted in the replies give today's quotations.

Mt. Vernon is asking the highest price for potatoes, the market in that city bringing 90 cents a peck as compared with the lowest price, 50 cents a peck, which is being asked in Coshocton. At the Newark Third street market new potatoes were selling for 60 cents while at the West Main street market the prices range from 65 to 75 cents. The local grocers were asking 75 and 80 cents.

The price of eggs fluctuated in the different towns and even in Newark they ranged from 35 to 40 cents. At the West Main street market they were asking 38 cents while at the Third street market the price was from 35 to 40 cents. Zanesville was asking 40, but Coshocton only wanted 32 cents.

Coshocton evidently is a member of the league to keep down prices, for all markets quoted are the lowest. Chickens there are only 18 cents a pound, butter 32 and tomatoes 10 cents.

In Columbus dressed chickens are selling for 40 cents a pound and Zanesville chickens are bringing from 60 cents to $1 each.

The wave of investigation of the high prices which have prevailed during the past year, is spreading over the country, and stimulated by the action of Food Director Herbert Hoover, a raid is going to be made on the tremendous prices asked. This with the fact that nearly every home has its garden should cause a drop in many of the foodstuffs.

Newark City Council has appointed a committee to investigate prices and Chairman Harvey Alexander asks Newark people to aid in securing information which might ndicate a combine.

The comparative prices of local staples and that of surrounding cites is given:

City	Potatoes	Eggs	Chickens	Butter	Tomatoes
Coshocton ...	$ .50	$ .32	$ .18	$ .32	$ .10
Delaware	.65	.38	.25	.40	.15
Mt. Vernon	.90	.36	.32	.34	.20
Mansfield ...	.75	.38	.30	.38	.25
Zanesville ...	.55	.40	$ .60–$1.00*	$ .35–$ .40	.20
Columbus ...	.60	$ .36–$ .38		.40	.20

ACTION OF SENATE MAY BE CHANGED; WILL VOTE AGAIN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, July 7.—President Wilson has thrown the weight of his personal influence against a provision attached to the food bill which, it is said, practically would disrupt the great machinery of the Council of National Defense. The provision in question would forbid any person connected with the government from selling to it anything in which he has an interest. Inasmuch as the great businesses of the country are represented on the advisory committees of the council, the enactment of the provision, the president thinks, would disrupt all the machinery set up for an efficient economical conduct of the war by marshaling the country's best brains and resources.

The senate today voted 44 to 39 to reconsider its action of yesterday, tentaively adding to prohibition legislation proposed to the food control bill the amendment of Senator Cummins' prohibiting withdrawal of distilled beverages from bonded warehouses.

Senator Reed's amendment to the Cummins' provision, proposing that the president should be empowered to authorize withdrawal of liquors from bond when in the public interest, was rejected, 45 to 38.

The effect of the action upon Senator Reed's amendment was to leave the Cummins' provision subject to a further vote.

The senate voted 65 to 12 in favor of adding to Senator Cummins' amendment, a provision by Senator Smoot that should withdrawal of distilled beverages from bond be prohibited, the president should be directed to take over all stocks in bonded warehouses for government use and pay distillers the cost of production plus a10 tSoamenveerx production, plus a 10 per cent profit.

By a vote of 52 to 25 the senate refused to reconsider its favorable action upon Senator Smoot's amendment proposing to direct the president to take over distilled beverages in bond upon compensaing their owners.

PREDICT EVENTS OF IMPORTANCE WHILE REICHSTAG MEETS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, July 7.—The report that political developments of exceptional importance are being awaited in Berlin in connection with the session of the reichstag now in progress, is reiterated in a Berlin dispatch to Amsterdam, as forwarded by the Exchange Telegraph. The dispatch says that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg will deliver his speech to the reichstag on Monday, and that addresses will be delivered on the same day by Foreign Secretary Zimmerman, Vice Chancellor Helfferich and Vice Admiral von Capelle, minister of the navy. The vote of credit will then be taken.

Cable dispatches yesterday said the chancellor's speech would be delivered today, and that he was expected to make declaration which would serve as a basis for peace negotiations.

LETTER FROM GERMANY SAYS REVOLT TO COME IF WAR IS NOT ENDED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, July 7.—Fosse 5, the pit hear which overlooked our outposts in Avion, disappeared on Thursday in a cloud of dust and fire. It had been for some time a mark of our heavy artillery, but whether the destruction was caused by our shells or by the Germans themselves is not known. If they anticipated a further immedate advance of our men they may have blown up the mining works themselves, for it is their policy to leave behind them nothing that would aid in speedy resumption of mining operations in this important coal area.

Much evidence of the lowering of German morale continues to be reached in captured trenches and raided houses. A remarkable letter was found recently which had been written to a Bavarian at the front three weeks ago. The letter said in part:

"One can well understand that you are sick of this horrible business. I believe that the climax has been reached for new one hears nothing but complaints. The German Scial Democrats have announced that if a single shot is fired in August revolution will follow. The situation is no longer good. They are on the track of the German Kaiser, too, and if it lasts much longer it will be the end of Prussia for the Prussians and the English are the masters. These two alone are carrying on the war. The others are merely in their hands."

Canadian casualties have been very light during the past two weeks and exceptionally so in the killed and missing classes.

37 KILLED WHEN GERMAN PLANES ATTACK LONDON

Twenty In Squadron Which Dropped Bombs In the Business District

RAIDERS APPEARED SUDDENLY FLYING LOW OVER THE CITY

Considerable Property Damage By Bombs—German Machine Destroyed

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, July 7.—About 20 enemy airplanes bombarded London today, according to an official statement by the war office.

The raiders were attacked by artillery and a large number of British airplanes. The results were unknown at noon.

Thirty-seven persons were killed and 141 injured, it was officially announced this afternoon.

One enemy machine was brought down by the Royal Flying Corps.

The raid occurred at about 9:30 o'clock this morning. Thousands of persons crowded the streets, many of them women and children. The police and soldiers had difficulty in holding back the people. Many persons were seen at windows. Anticraft guns throughout the city and British airplanes immediately engaged the hostile craft, and for a time the sound of exploding bombs and the vicious reply of guns was deafening. Straight over the city flew the squadron of raiders, pursued by bursting shrapnel.

The sun was shining brightly, but the sky was overcast with a haze such as is so favorable to raiders. Notwithstanding the haze, however, the Germans were visible plainly to the people in the streets.

The raiders appeared most suddenly and few persons realized that a raid was in progress until the sound of bombs began to be heard. The Germans were traveling at tremendous speed. Thy appeared to be at a lower altitude than in the last raid, when they exacted such a heavy toll of life in London.

Damage was done in the heart of London by the raid, which was one of the greatest, if not the greatest, ever attempted by the Germans over the metropolitan district.

Late this morning it was impossible to say what loss of life there had been.

For about a quarter of an hour the raiders dropped a steady rain of bombs.

The most recent air-raid on London occurred June 13. At that time the German squadron consisted of about 15 machines and the downtown section of London was their chief objective.

Many bombs fell in the East End where buildings were destroyed and others badly damaged.

The casualties officially announced were 151 killed and 430 persons injured. No damage of a military or naval nature was done. The Germans remained at a great height and flew swiftly. The British fighters had difficulty in pursuit and only the loss of one German machine was recorded.

An official statement issued this afternoon by the British admiralty said that three of the German airplanes which had dropped bombs on London have been brought down at sea.

The west end and fashionable northwestern residential suburbs had a superb view of the approach of the visitors. From the further northern fringes of the metropolis the raiders swept onward in fairly close formation, more than a score in number.

The squadron, which has been flying high, then began a swift toboggan downwards, its speed increasing tremendously under the ascent of gravity and the planes in reaching a level evidently less than a thousand yards in their swoop toward the central objectives.

Meanwhile from all directions anti-aircraft batteries were working like machine guns. Bursting shrapnel dotted the air around the oncoming raiders with snarling, vicious black puffs of smoke more numerous than the planes. It seemed impossible for the raiders completely to escape from the atmosphere of curtain fire surrounding them. The raiders, however, pursued their course, holding their cargo of bombs until they had crossed the suburban district and outlying parks.

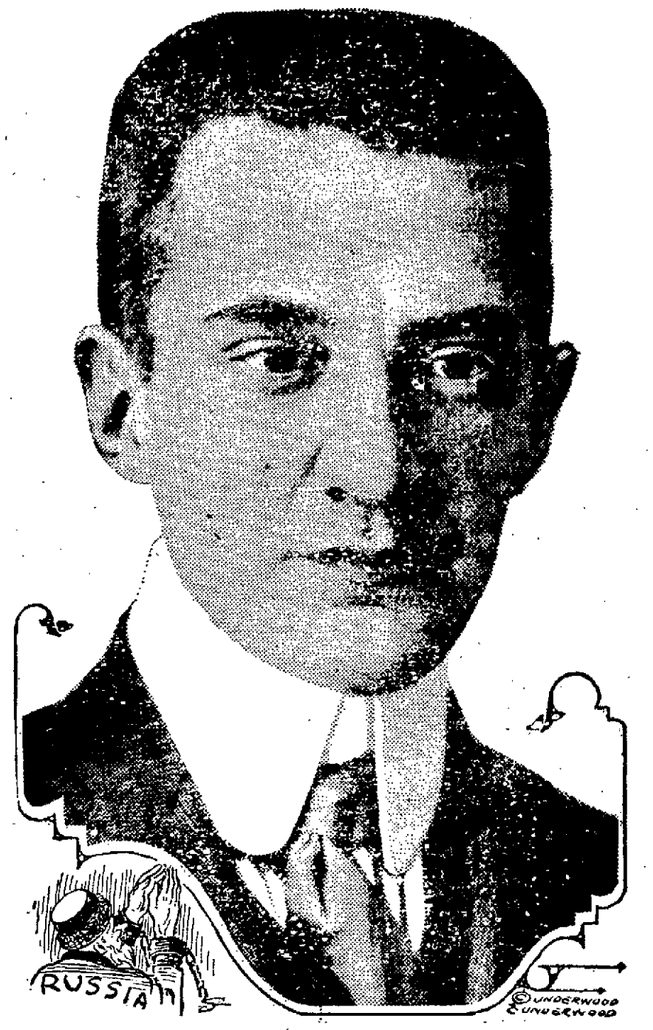

Fortunately a majority of the people in the capital had just enough warning of the raid to enable them to seek safety in basements.

AMERICAN DROWNS WHEN STEAMER ORLEANS SINKS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, July 7.—One American citizen was among the four members of the crew of the American steamship Orleans who were droned when the vessel was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine, according to cable advices received here today by the ship's owners and Oriental Navigation Co. The American was E. Nogot, messman, of the Philippine Islands. The other men drowned were Thomas Cleary, fireman; A. Tamarants, seaman, and A. Murillo, coal passer.

IS KERENSKY TOLSTOY'S "STRONG MAN FROM THE NORTH" WHO IS TO END WAR?

Alexander Kerensky.

All Russia is beginning to believe that Alexander Kerensky, the young and fiery war minister of the New Russia, is the man referred to by Tolstoy in his remarkable prophecy, in which he foresaw the world war and declared that "a new Napoleon" without previous war training would arise in the north and save Europe. Kerensky is given the credit for the success of the great new Russian offensive, which has brought consternation to Germany.

SURPRISE SPRUNG BY RUSS GENERAL IN NEW OFFENSIVE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New Yorkfi July 7.—General Brussiloff seems to have been arranging a surprise on the Russian front, judging from the reports from Petrograd today of violent fighting in progress in the Pinsk district.

Apparently the Austro-German attention has been centered on the Galician district, where Brusseiloff's offensive opened last Sunday, and only last evening the German official report recorded the resumption of heavy attacks by the Russians.

There had been no mention in any of the official statements recently of any especial activity anywhere along the Russian line except in Galicia and the sectors immediately adjacent on north and south. The report from Pinsk, 150 miles north of the Galician border, therefore, has in it the element of surprise for the world, if not for the Germans.

Pinsky, which has been in German hands since the tire of the great invasion of 1915 swept Grand Duke Nicholas' armies far back into Russian territory, is reported in flames. The city lies within a pronounced salient in the line and the statement that fighting is occuring west of it may mean to the northwest, where the front trends along the Oginski canal and the Jasiolda river.

The infantry may not yet have been thrown into the fighting at Pinsk, the battle apparently being one of big guns, judging from the statement regarding the Russian artillery, which is said to be "levelling all obstacles."

On the Franco-Belgian front the British have again made another forward thrust, slightly advancing their line east of Wytschaete in the Belgian district where General Plummer blew the Germans out of an extended salient east of the Messines Ridge last month. With the French forces there have been only artillery fighting and trench-raiding.

Meanwhile the Germans have carried out another air-raid on London, said to be possibly the greatest they have attempted over the metropolitan area. The raiders, probably numbering about 20, dropped bombs for a quarter of an hour in various parts of London, some of them in the heart of the city where damage is reported.

HEARSE HITS AUTO; ONE DYING

Toledo, July 7.—A hearse, conveying the body of Edward Orebaugh of Lima, to a railroad station, today crashed into an automobile driven by John Long. Mildred Long, 15, suffered a crushed skull and is dying, doctors say. Long and a 12-year-old son were bruised.

RABBI DIES OF INJURIES

Cleveland, July 7.—Rabbi Samuel Margolies, 36, one of the Orthodox Jewish leaders of Cleveland, died at midnight in the Geneva, Ohio, hospital, as a result of injuries he received in an automobile accident last Sunday, near Perry, Ohio. His wife, also injured in the accident, was in a semi-conscious condition in the Geneva hospital today.

RUSSIA ATTACKS IN A NEW SECTOR PINSK IN FLAMES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Petrograd, July 7.—Violent fighting has begun on the Russian front west of Pinsk. The city of Pinsk is in flames, according to an announcement today by the semi-official news agency.

Russians have captured the fortified forest of Sianka with all the enemy's organized positions, and also Hill 388. They have penetrated the village of Godov.

Further gains have been made by the Russian forces in Galicia. Advices from the front record the taking of first-line trenches of the eleventh army who also at some points captured second-line positions.

The opening of the battle of Pinsk, marks the second effort of the Russians after the long ueriod of quiet which followed the revolution. The point selected for this attack is about 175 miles north of the sector in east Galicia along which the Russians made their first onslaught resulting in the captrue of about 18,000 men in two days. Pinsk is at the middle of the Russo-Galician battle line.

There has been no heavy fighting in this region since the conclusion of the great Austro-German drive which began in the spring of 1915.

During the summer the Russians were driven out of western Galicia, Poland, and most of the Baltic provinces. Pinsk was captured by the Germans on September 15, at the height of the last Austro-German campaign. Subsequently Russians held up the Germans on the Riga front and since that time the heaviest actions have been fought on the northern end of the line or in Galicia.

Pinsk had a population of about 30,000 before the war. It lies within the great marsh and swamp region of White Russia, about on a line east of Warsaw.

SUSPEND PROPOSED NEW FREIGHT RATES IN OHIO

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, July 7.—The following rearrangement of freight classifications in what is known as Central Freight Association territory the Interstate Commerce Commission today suspended proposed higher rates in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, but granted a percentage of increase. Through adjustments of "illogical" ratings the commission suggested new tariffs allowing the railroad men estimate, a raise of five per cent on classes of freight constituting 25 per cent of the tonnage in this district.

BERLIN CLAIMS VICTORY

Berlin, July 7, Via London.—The war office announces the defeat of Russian attacks near Koniuchy and further to the north in eastern Galicia. Russian attacks in the Carpathians also were repulsed. The Russians are said to have suffered heavy losses.

OHIO GUARD WILL BE ACCEPTED AS A DIVISION UNIT

Governor Cox Asks For Regular Army Officer As Chief of Staff

AERO SQUAD IS WAVED; MACHINE SUPPLY SHORT

Will Add 20,000 Men to Various Regiments Before July 15th

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, July 7. — The only thing that now is lacking to give Ohio a full division of National Guard troops is the official order recognizing the guard as a division by the war department. Evident assurance that this order will be forthcoming was to be seen at headquarters at the state capital today following the return of Adjutant General George H. Wood from Washington. In giving out a statement today, General Wood would not say that a division is certain, but there were other indications leading officers of the guard to a highly optimistic frame of mind.

It became known that Governor Cox has requested of the secretary of war that a chief of staff for a division, a regular army officer, be assigned to Ohio.

It also was made known that the war department has been asked to assign an officer to the artillery brigade, this officer to have the rank of brigadier general, and that names have been suggested by the state.

General Wood announced, as further indication of approval of a division organizaton, that the war department has consented to a temporary waiver of an aero squad, which is a required unit in a division. This was done because of lack of machines and other equipment at this particular time, although General Wood expressed confidence that an aero squad later will be formed as a part of the state's military organization.

An official order was issued today organizing the Ohio Field Artillery Brigade, which carries with it the official recognition of the appointments of Colonels Bush, Hard and Mitchell as commanding officers of the First, Second and Third regiments, respectively.

That the war department has taken a keen interest in the guard activites in Ohio in recent weeks was indicated in a statement to General Wood by General Maun, who informed the Ohio officer that Ohio is the only state in the union that has furnished more than its allotment to the National Guard.

Despite the fact recruiting has been highly satisfactory, officers say they expect the strength to be increased from some 20,000 men to fully 25,000 by July 15, the date fixed for the state's military organization to be taken over by the federal government. Recruiting in ammunition and supply trains and the two troops of divisional headquarters police companies has been better than was expected.

OHIO WHEAT CROP IS ABOVE NORMAL CORN IS DAMAGED

Columbus, July 7.—The Ohio state board of agriculture's crop report for June, made public today, shows that wheat gained 21 points and the 1917 crop prospects are 109 per cent compared to the normal yield. This will make the Ohio wheat crop, despite a decrease of 250,000 acres, up to a 10 year average. Corn will be 89 per cent normal, damage being caused by wet weather, worms and grubs. There are excellent prospects of a great potatoe crop, now indicated to be 98 per cent of normal as to conditions, with an acreage of 115 compared to last year.

The report issued by the board for June is the most comprehensive one ever issued by the state, dealing with many special crops grown only in certain sections of the state. It shows general improvement in all products over the condition reported in May, though most fruits are far below the average as to condition and prospective production.

Peaches will yield less than one third the average, apples 56 per cent, plums 52 per cent, pears 51 per cent, and cherries 92 per cent.

The estimated area in potatoes is 97,000 acres an increase of 15 per cent over last year. Grasses are about up to normal. Conditions of livestock is nearly that of the average for ten years.

"WE CAN MAKE KIEL CANAL ITSELF USELESS," SAYS UNCLE SAM'S AERIAL EXPERT; EXPECTS U. S. PLANES TO SMASH GERMAN BASES

Battle line in France and German submarine and naval bases which it is proposed to destroy.

"We can make the Kiel canal itself useless." So says Brig. Gen. George O. Squier, who as chief signal officer of the United States army is in charge of aircraft preparations. General Squier agrees with other aerial experts that the United States can quickly win the war with a big air fleet, blowing up German submarine and naval bases, destroying lines of communication and blinding the eyes of German artillery.

JUDGE JEWELL TO HEAR MOTION IN GAS CASE MONDAY

It is expected that Judge Harry W. Jewell of Delaware will be in the city Monday and hear the motion to be presented by the gas company, asking that it be allowed a portion of the escrow fund now in the hands of Receiver Walter C. Metz.

The company asks that there be paid to it the amount accruing and paid into the hands of the receiver of the fund from Aug. 1, 1915 to April 30, 1916. Affidavits have been filed with Clerk of Court Bert O. Horton to the effect that during the time within the dates named the lowest price for which the gas could be purchased to supply the city of Newark, caused a deficit or loss to the Newark Gas Company from Aug 1, to Dec. 31, 1915, in the sum of over $10,000, and from Jan. 1, to April 30, 1916, a loss of over $2,000, when the rate was advanced by ordinance to 25 cents net, and on an ascending scale by virtue of a new ordinance.

When Judge Jewell arrives he will hear first a preliminary motion filed to strike from the files the motion of the gas company. Should this be overruled the hearing would then be continued and should the decision be adverse to the company the case in all probability would be appealed and it would then go to a higher court. In fact no matter which way the case may be decided it may go through to the supreme court, and thus it will be seen that consumers entitled to the rebate may be kept out of their money for some time to come.

The amount involved in the suit is about $25,000, and should the court request Receiver Metz to make a distribution of the funds in his hands less that amount it would mean several more months of auditing the books. It is to be hoped that the matter can be settled quickly without dragging it tediously through the various courts as the people are anxious to obtain the money to which they may be entitled.

Voracity of Pike.

While two Edinburgh anglers were fishing from a boat on Loch Ard, Aberfoyle, they were attracted by splashing on the surface of the water close to a clump of reeds near the shore. Approaching the spot, they found that two pike—the individual weights, ascertained later, were two and two and one-quarter pounds—were locked together, the smaller of the two in an attempt to swallow the larger, having succeeded in enveloping in its jaws almost the whole head of the other. On the fish being taken into the boat with a landing net considerable difficulty was found in separating them, the teeth of the one being firmly fixed in the skull and gills of the larger fish. While the voraciousness of this fish is well known, it must remain a mystery whether the incident described arose from cannibalism or was the outcome of a fight.—R. M. W. in Edinburgh Scotsman.

HERE'S TWO METHODS FOR CANNING PEAS

The Advocate was asked to furnish a recipe for canning peas and two following ones are recommended: The simpler of the two calls for hulling the peas, and packing them in cans (glass or tin). Fill the can with cold water, put lid on (but to not seal) and place in a boiler or tub, and put in enough water to come almost to top of cans. Cook four hours. Remove from stove and seal while hot.

The other is known as sterilizing the vegetable. The peas are shelled and packed in jars, which are the generally used self-seal jars. The jars are filled with cold water and the vegetable is seasoned with salt, about a teaspoonful to a quart. The jars are packed in a boiler with rubber rings in position and the lids placed loosely on top. About three inches of cold water is placed in the boiler and the jars are arranged so they do not crowd each other. Place the lid on the boiler and boil for an hour, then remove the lid of the boiler and clamp down the lid of the jars. They may be removed from the water or left in the boiler to cool. This operation is repeated for three days.

When glass jars are used care should be taken that the jars are placed on a rack which will leave space between jar bottoms and the bottom of the kettle to prevent breaking by heat.

How National Advertising Cuts Dealers' Rents

(Copyright—Mallory, Mitchell & Faust)

It is a matter of economy for dealers to handle advertised products. Especially is this true in case of the retail grocer.

Economy in any business may be secured in three ways:

The expenses of conducting a business may be grouped under four general heads, viz.: (1) rent for land and building, (2) wages and salaries for employes, (3) interest on capital invested, and (4) general overhead. Economy, then, may be secured by paying less rent, less interest, or by reducing the general overhead.

A previous article pointed out how the handling of advertised brands results in economy of wages, fewer clerks being necessary to handle the same volume of business. The present article shows how economy in RENT is secured by handling advertised brands.

This is based upon the principle of CONSUMER ACCEPTANCE previously explained. Since customers are ready to accept advertised brands, it follows that dealers may specialize on fewer brands in each line.

This means a dealer will not require as large a stock in order to do the same business. For if he carries unadvertised brands he will find it necessary also to carry some advertised brands of the same product to meet the demand of a part of his trade who will insist upon the advertised goods.

By specializing on the advertised brands which ALL will readily accept, a smaller stock is required, hence less shelf room for displaying the goods.

The dealer will either require less room in which to conduct his business or he can utilize the same space to better advantage by giving better displays or more displays, either of which leads to the same results—economy of SPACE, or of RENT.

It is a matter of rent ECONOMY for the dealer to handle advertised brands.

ASKS $10,000 FOR DEATH OF BOY BY ELECTRIC SHOCK

A. P. Hartsough, as administrator of the estate of Allen Hartsough, has filed a damage suit against the city of Newark in which he asks damages in the sum of $10,000.

The suit is the outgrowth of the death of Allen Hartsough, 13 years old, which occurred on the evening of June 8, at Mt. Vernon Road and Channell street.

The petition states that the city was negligent in looking after the pole, wires and arc light, which is erected at that corner, stating that the latter was connected with feed wires charged with electric current of high voltage; that a rope or chain to which was attached an iron ring was connected with the pole, the ring hanging down within reaching distance of anyone caring to take hold of same.

The petiton recites further that prior to June 8, 1917, the insulation on the feed wire had worn off; that the feed wire and chain were tied together, and that electric current was transmitted to the chain. On that evening, it is alleged, that Allen Hartsough toucted the iron ring and was shocked with electric current to such an extent that it caused his death.

Wonderland of Australasia.

The hot sped district of New Zealand is called "wonderland of Australasia." It is said to be to New Zealand what the Yellowstone park and Hot Springs of Arkansas are to the United States. Maori women have no need to light a fire to cook meals. Any old can or pail sunk in hot mud or set on a steam jet answers admirably for a boiling pot or oven.

"You sometimes have to fight the devil with fire," remarked the Wise Guy. "Yes, and you will generally discover he was the most ammunition," replied the Simple Mug.

Success as a Singer.

To captivate the world as a singer of songs is as simple as—well, as Yvette Guilbert says it is, for Yvette, whose art is supreme, has just been explaining its secrets. Here is her recipe:

"You must have in your one voice all voices, all colors; in your one face all expressions; in your one soul, all the souls of all people. And you must work, work, work! When you have worked for ten years, twenty years, you will find yourself only at the beginning."

There is a little more. You must have a long and stern course of vocal gymnastics for the voice, of plastique for the harmonious and expressive use of the body, of history, literature, painting, sculpture—all forms of art and beauty must bring their influence to bear on the creative imagination of the singer, "or you are nothing, nothing!"

And that is how it is done.—London Globe.

Rosebushes.

Quite frequently we find rosebushes not producing as fine large roses as they did during other seasons. Something is lacking, and if fertilizers have been applied and these do not seem to bring out the good qualities something else is needed.

Perhaps the roses need iron. One thing is certain—a little iron will not hurt them. Try burying a few cans beneath the rosebushes. Mash them flat and bury them a few inches beneath the surface of the soil, near enough to the roots of the roses that the roots can secure some of the iron and carry it to the foliage and the flowers.

From three to a half dozen cans to a bush is enough. The tin soon rusts off, and the thin sheet of iron will be rapidly gathered up by the action of the elements, and it is surprising how soon a can will wholly disappear.—Philadelphia North American.

Moving an Army.

Some idea of the adequacy of the equipment of the railroads of the United States for the movement of troops may be obtained from a statement prepared by an official of the quartermaster corps, United States army.

To move one field army of 80,000 men, consisting of three infantry divisions, one cavalry division and a brigade, technically known as a brigade of field army troops—troops auxiliary to the infantry and cavalry divisions—requires a total of 6,229 cars, made up into 366 trains with as many locomotives. These 6,229 cars would be made up of 2,115 passenger, 385 baggage, 1,033 box, 1,899 stock and 775 flat cars.

This quantity of equipment represents 0.7 of 1 per cent of the locomotives owned by American railroads, 4.2 per cent of their passenger cars and 0.2 of 1 per cent of their freight equipment.—American Industries.

Teeth of the Whale.

Although the whale is a warm blooded, air breathing animal, it can stay under water half an hour. Usually it comes to the surface every eight or ten minutes to blow, spouting a stream of water from its nostrils and remaining up about two minutes.

The rorqual or finback whale is sometimes more than 100 feet long. The teeth of the sperm or oil whale often weigh thirty pounds apiece. They are used for ivory, but are not as fine as elephant tusks. Whalebone, which comes from the right or whalebone whale, is not really bone at all, but resembles the horns of cattle. It grows in plates from the roof of the whale's mouth and serves the purpose of teeth, which are lacking in this variety.

Washed Dishes at the Table.

In former centuries a cistern for the washing of dishes at the table was part of the furniture of a well appointed dining room in England. The plates were rinsed in it when necessary during the meal. Pepys in his diary tells of purchasing a pewter cistern as part of his preparations for a dinner of state. A magnificent silver cistern is still preserved in the dining room at Burghley House, the seat of the Marquis of Exeter.

LIFE INSURANCE

One of The Great Things of The World

Life insurance is the sole support of thousands.

Life insurance limits the needs of Charity, of poor house and pauper burials.

Life insurance supports old men who gave it a portion of the savings of their youth.

Life insurance enables middle aged men to go into business for themselves.

Life insurance cares far widows, educates sons and daughters, and pays mortgages on homes.

Life insurance replaces misery, trouble, and want, with cheerfulness and a clear conscience.

Life insurance is the associating together of large numbers of individuals, each contributing a small sum annually, based on age and interest rates; in order that each person, or his beneficiaries may receive a stipulated sum at a future date, not necessarily at death.

In view of the immense possibilities for good of life insurance, The Park National Bank has established the following special facilities for its furtherance,

Namely:

Premium Savings Accounts

These accounts are specially designed to enable a man to systematically save money for the payment of life insurance premium.

You can purchase life insurance and thus protect yourself and family AT ONCE by starting a Premium Savings Account at our bank.

This plan is carried out by means of stipulated monthly or weekly deposits. It is extremely simple and systematic.

CHAUTAUQUA.

In a number of places, this summer may not seem quite like summer, because there will not be so many Chautauqua assemblies held throughout the country as usual. For the fortunate towns and cities that have kept their Chautauqua, war or no war, congratulation is surely in order, but in some the programs have been cut down. Newark is one of the towns where the Chautauqua will be held as usual with a bigger and better program than ever before.

Let no one imagine, however, that the general success of the Chautauqua idea is diminishing. It certainly is not. On the contrary, it is gaining ground. Lately one of the nation's most exclusive and "literary" magazines printed a long article, singing Chautauqua's praises

The woman who wrote the article had been lecturing on a Chautauqua circuit. When she started out, she confesses she though the program included only Swiss yodelers, performing dogs, and an occasional lecture. She soon learned her mistake. She found what good music, high-class entertainment, and really instructive and helpful speeches there were in the programs.

The lady herself discovered that the audiences in the big tent had a good deal to teach her. If there were any numbers poorly done or not very interesting, the people in the audience found it out quickly enough. They refused to be humbugged.

It isn't human nature to accept a humbug, after you have been waiting all year for a good week of profit. Many an industrious woman gets her housework so arranged in advance that she will be free to attend all the meetings when Chautauqua comes to town, and many a man lays special plans in his business for the same purpose. Chautauqua will remain a success because it meets a wide and true demand of the American people. This year's Newark Chautauqua will be held on the "tabernacle" lot where the Bromley meeting and the Rotary Exposition were held. It is given under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

AS TO SPIES.

(Philadelphia Record.)

It is now a year and a half since the president told the country that a foreign government had got its spies even into the offices of our government. There seems to have been plenty of time to run them out, for we have detective services of reasonable efficiency, as it has been supposed. Yet the fact that Germany seems to get early information of what we are going to do inclines some of the men at the seat of government to believe that there is a spy in the navy department, so highly placed that he has knowledge of the most confidential messages, the orders to ship commanders, not to be read till they get to sea.

Undoubtedly there are German spies, and they are very insidious and cunning. But we should not become spy crazy, as the English people did a few weeks after the opening of the war. We trust the government will go on hunting for spies, and we do not doubt that their usefulness will be destroyed if they are caught. But we need not look under our beds every night in anticipation of finding a spy there.

It has never been quite certain that the departure of the flotilla of destroyers was communicated to Berlin. The evidence on which the suspicion rests is the mines strewn in front of a British port, and the Germans have been deplorably industrious in planting mines in front of British ports. They might have done that if they had not known that our destroyers were coming.

The German submarines waylaid our expeditionary force outside of the barred zone, and it is thought that they know where the transports and the destroyers were to meet. They would naturally try to encounter the transports before the destroyers arrived, and it is assumed that they tried to do this, but they did not succeed. If they thought an expeditionary force was on the way they may well have cruised across courses leading to French ports without knowing any of the details of our naval plans.

As to the departure of the expedition, that must have been known to a great many people. You can't transport a large body of troops from the Mexican border and interior points to a port, or ports, on the Atlantic, and put them and their belongings on a fleet of transports without the sight of a great many people. The news did not get into the newspapers, because they censor themselves. But people who saw these movements talked about them, undoubtedly, and information thereof may naturally enough, and almost inevitably, have reached Germans in this country, one of whom might have got the news to his own country by way of neutral countries.

It is not yet certain that Germany had advance information. If it did have, it is not necessary to suppose that German spies are placed high up in the war and navy departments But it is quite certain that it is much too easy for a German in the United States to get a message in cipher to his own country, and a closer surveillance of telegrams and letters is imperative.

IS IT A PLOT TO OVERLOAD?

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

There was hope that the food control bill would become a law before the beginning of this month. It is still laboring in heavy seas.

They are becoming heavier. Every amendment offered, and their name is legion, adds to the weight it has to carry.

Already it has been burdened with control of iron, steel, petroleum, lumber, wool, fertilizers, etc., and by-products.

The introduction of one blanket amendment is now in order. All that remains to cap the climax is to provide for the control of everything.

Suspicion that there is method in this madness, so-called, strengthens not daily, but hourly. That which is overloaded, sinks.

Meanwhile, frustration or miscarriage of purposes essential to the successful prosecution of the war.

Prematurely, it was proclaimed that a great peril had been averted—that efforts to divide the country into two camps had failed.

They have been renewed. There is a resort to every thinkable expedient by which time for Potsdam can be saved.

It is fulsome flattery to call this scandalous. It would be more to the point to talk of Iron Crosses, not undeserved.

MEXICO NEARLY NORMAL.

(San Francisco Chronicle.)

According to reliable sources of information, conditions in Mexico are now more nearly normal than they have been at any time during the past seven years. Purposeless revolution has come to an end, while the larger bandit organizations have dwindled down to small predatory gangs preying upon the little loot that is left in the sparsely settled areas.

Villa, once dignified by the title of "the Napoleon of Mexico," is now aptly described as a "Jesse James, merely an outlaw, with a handful of followers." Zapata is not even mentioned as among those also conducting bandit operations.

The revolution in Mexico died the natural death that comes to all movements with no other purpose than the personal profit of leaders and followers who are too infernally lazy to work and who welcome lawlessness as a convenient cloak for their criminality. It was not that the Villistats ran out of fine phrases, but that their poverty-stricken dupes ran out of the food and funds with which to support them, while the more sensible portion of the population began to realize that any government was better than no government at all.

HOPKINS COMMISSIONED FOR SOCIAL WORK IN THE HOUSTON CANTONMENT

William E Hopkins, superintendent of the Newark public welfare bureau of the Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Charities, has been commissioned by the government to take charge of the recreational and social service work in the big army cantonment at Houston, Texas. He has been granted a leave of absence by the Associated Charities and the welfare bureau while his services are needed for the cantonment work. The commission came following a conference of social workers in New York City this week, which was attended by Mr. Hopkins. He returned last night from the conference.

WILLIAM E. HOPKINS
Commissioned by Government for Work in Army Cantonments.

Under the present plan as understood here the chiefs in this work are not given military rank but their standing in relation to the army is similar to that of the medical officers.

Such work is being conducted at Fort Benjamin Harrison under the name of "Indianapolis War Recreational-Social Service Bureau, in Cooperation with the War Department National Commission Training Camp Activities." James E. Rogers, head of the Indianapolis welfare bureau is in charge of the work there.

The object of the work is to supply to the men in the camps, those things which they have sacrificed in answering their country's call: the home, the church, the fraternal and recreational institutions.

Mr. Hopkins will immediately begin to arrange his affairs with the local bureau so he can leave upon short notice to report for duty at the cantonment in the Southland.

GERMANY'S LAST HOPE GONE.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)

The desperation of Germany is exemplified best in the persistence with which Berlin clings to the hope that submarine warfare will bring victory to its arms. It is its last chance and every day it is dwindling. Not only are the U-boats taking less toll now than formerly, never reaching the mark set by the German admiralty as essential to "bring England to its knees," but the allies are in better shape than for months in the matter of cargo bottoms German-owned ships, long idle in neutral ports, are being put to work and our shipbuilding program before many months will be productive of ocean carriers in such numbers that even Prussian bullheadedness must be impressed with the hopelessness of its campaign. The submarine even now is not to be despised. It will do great damage before the war is brought to a close, but that it can accomplish the defeat of the allies has been demonstrated impossible. its failure destroys another advantage upon which Germany was counting to extort favorable terms from its adversaries. While the kaiser is losing on the seas he is also being compelled to give up ground his armies had occupied in both the east and the west. Though he may continue his resistance for some time it is certain he will have to submit in the end Germany is being driven back to its own soil. When the war is carried to their doorsteps the scales will fall from the eyes of the German populace and the kaiser will find himself beset by indignant subjects whose wrath will be more terrible than that of any foreign foe.

DURATION OF WAR.

(Ohio State Journal.)

Secretary Lane says the war will last a long time yet and that this will be a nation in arms indefinitely. We don't believe either assertion. The secretary has quite fallen into the German way of thinking, that Germany is quite invincible and that it will take years and years to lay her out and years and years to keep her so. That is a sad reflection upon the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and Italy, the five greatest powers on earth, that Germany and Austria can keep them at bay for years and years. A comparison of the strength and resources of these great nations would not justify the secretary's conclusion. Nor will passing events warrant his prediction. On all sides, Germany is growing weaker. Her so-called efficiency is suffering some hard knocks. Her strength is on the decline on land and sea. The allies are certain to triumph and that within the time allotted by Mr. Lane, who seems to have been scared into his conclusion by Von Hindenburg We should not be surprised if Germany would lay down her arms within a year.

THE CHINESE PUZZLE.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

There is civil war in China again. The land is torn by factional disturbance; half-trained soldiers march back and forth across its face fighting for causes which they do not understand, raising to temporary power men whose names mean little to the world. The story is an old one, always new. China is the land of revolution and of revolt. Its ailment is chronic, and the man whose strength shall prove the panacea has not yet arisen. Can one hope he will?

There is a Manchu dictatorship in Peking. There are provisional governments in half a dozen provinces. There are imprisonments and terrorization and executions everywhere. The president of what some thought was a republic is a fugitive in the Japanese legation in Tientsin. The minister of war is in a dungeon and the chairman of the council of state a corpse. The Manchus hold the capital. The fighting men of the republic are mobilizing to move against them, and in all directions men who prefer loot to honest earnings are out for plunder.

None dare hazard a guess on China's future. None save the bondholders can guess her national debt, and they have never got together to tabulate it and compare their claims. Only the Tokio foreign office has an inkling of what lies behind this latest wave of disorder, and the Tokio foreign office will not tell.

The face of the oriental has always been inscrutable to the white man, his mental processes a complete mystery, his politics and his political aspirations a Chinese puzzle. That familiar phrase never meant more than it does today.

"MR. PRESIDENT, WHY NOT MAKE AMERICA SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY?"

Spirit of the Press

"Sammies."

Our friends across the water have found a new name for the American soldier. There's a slang term, as everybody knows, for everything and everybody connected with the war. The French soldiers are known as "Poilus," or "hairy ones." The Germans are called "Boches." The British soldiers are "Tommies." What is more natural, then, that the American soldiers should be called "Sammies?" What young American wouldn't feel flattered by a name which implies that he's a khaki edition of Uncle Sam?—Sandusky Register.

One Way Open.

By calling a number of dictionaries into consultation it is found that you can pronounce it "cantonment," "Cantone-ment," "cantunment," "cantoon-ment," etc. You can find plenty of persons who will disagree with any of these pronunciations, but if you adopt the philosophy of the girl who didn't know whether 'paradise' was spelled with an "s" or a "c" so wrote it "heaven," you will call it the "camp" and avoid controversy.—Louisville Courer Journal.

Postage Proposals.

Three-cent postage, even a 2-cent postage for postal cards, need alarm no one. Far better an increase in the postal charges and a corresponding improvement in the service than 1-cent or even the present rate with some of the defects in the service. Even in peace times a proposition to make the first-class postage rate 3 cents instead of 2 cents as a means of providing for an improvement in the service, would be well worth considering. It would be still further worth while if it resulted in keeping out of the mail a large part of the useless matter that now clogs it.—Hartford Post.

Terrorism Inspred by Terror.

The outbreaks of lawlessness in East St. Louis are directly attributable to the resentment of the white population against this year's unprecedented influx of Southern Negroes. Their coming has been noted in every industrial city of the North and in some places serious problems are presented for the solution of the authorities. The East St. Louis rioting is unique, or nearly so. The only discernible cause is the general terror of the whites lest the community be overrun by the blacks. Like all mobs inspired by sheer unreasoning terror this one has been cruel, relentless and unreasoning. It has surpassed in brutality the rioters of other cities who have set forth at times to punish the whole Negro race for the crime of an individual. The motive of terror is more ferorious than that of mere vengeance.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TO HAVE PERFECT SKIN THROUGHOUT THE SUMMER

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the heating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Discolored, freckled and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renew the facial complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theatre or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser. Adv.

Did You Know

That menthol is obtained from oil of peppermint? It is a white crystalline substance, partially soluble in water, but entirely so in ether and the fixed and volatile oils. A solution of one part of menthol to ten parts of solvent is the strength usually employed. It is considered a valuable remedy in neuralgic affections of the face and head. The so-called "head-ache pencils" are simply preparations of menthol in a solid form.

Lodges

K. OF P.
Roland Lodge.

Officers were installed for the ensuing term at this week's meeting of Roland Lodge. Deputy Archie Woolard acted as installing officer, assisted by H. L. Rexroth as grand chaplain and T. C. Hawkins as grand master at arms. In addition considerable other business was transacted, including reading of various reports closing up the business of the previous term. Three applications were balloted upon and elected. At the close of the session cigars were passed. A letter was read from members of Champion lodge, Columbus, saying a delegation would be over next Tuesday evening to pay a friendly visit to Roland Lodge. It is hoped there will be a good turnout to welcome the visitors.

Captain Wollinsky of the Uniform Rank, who is well versed in military tactics, announced that he would shortly open a school in regulation military tactics. This will be open to all Knights, whether members of the Uniform Rank or not, and it intended for those particularly who expect to be drafted for service in the war. If the captain's plans carry out his pupils will be something more than "rookies" when their country needs them. All interested are asked to see the captain at once.

Newark Lodge, No. 13.

ATHLETIC FIELDS FOR DENISON TO FEATURE NEW PLAN

[Special to The Advocate]

Granville, July 7.—Granville people who have been so busily engaged in patriotic work during the past few months, have not forgotten to speculate and conjecture as to the proposed improvements in Denison University, which have been planned on a great scale. President Chamberlain, who has recently returned from a conference with the building and grounds committee of the Denison board, held in Washington, makes the following statement:

"Besides the president, this committee is composed of Ambrose Swasey of Cleveland, Edward Canby and Edward A. Deeds of Dayton. Mr. Swasey is a member of the National Research Council and Mr. Deeds is a member of the Council of National Defense. Both of these gentlemen spend much of their time in Washington. Mr. Deeds gives but one day in the week to his own business enterprises and contributes the rest of his time to the public service. As Mr. Deeds' time in Dayton is so short, President Chamberlain and Mr. Canby accompanied him to Washington so as to obtain an opportunity for a conference upon college matters. At Washington the party was met by Mr. Swasey and by Mr. Flagg, the architect from New York. An entire forenoon was spent in conference upon the plans for the development of Denison. Several fundamental questions were settled in this conference. The committee approved the plans suggested by Mr. Flagg and by Olmsted Brothers of New York for the development of the athletic fields for Granville College for men, and Shepardson College for women in the great amphitheatre north of the college woods About twenty-five acres will be devoted to the 'varsity football field, the 'varsity baseball field and four practice fields for the men of the college Approximately twenty acres will be devoted for the athletic field of Shepardson College This will include an outdoor auditorium, twenty tennis courts and a large field for outdoor sports.

"It had been the plan of the committee to begin the construction of the tunnel from the head of Main street through college hill to the athletic fields this summer. The committee was fully aware of the plans of the government to commander the services of the railroads for the movement of troops and war materials. The committee was fully posted upon some of the plans of the government which have not yet been announced and because of the certainty that within a few weeks' time it would be very difficult to move building material of any sort it was felt to be the patriotic duty of the college to begin no construction which would demand the transportation of materials over the railroads until the present congestion in traffic is relieved. Therefore the plan for the immediate construction of the tunnel and athletic field will be held in abeyance for a short time. It is hoped to begin the construction of these new improvements of the college in the near future."

One of the most unique and enjoyable entertainments given here in years was the garden tea given by Miss Minnie Jones and Miss Nellie Rees at their home in East Elm street, Friday afternoon, July 6. No cards of invitation were issued, all the women of the community having been apprized of the affair through the papers, and by means of an artistic poster. At two o'clock the guests assembled on the front lawn and were seated for the lecture and demonstration of the various up-to-date methods of canning vegetables and fruits, given by Miss Maude Okey, who represents the extension department of Ohio State University. The State university represents the Ohio branch of the Council of National Defense which has become active in the movement to conserve and preserve the food supply of the country. Miss Okey, who possesses a good voice and convincing manner, was stationed on the porch where, with all her supplies and implements neatly assembled, she showed first, the process of canning peas by the cold-pack method, then asparagus, and lastly red raspberries. As demonstrated, the process seemed easy and interesting, and the eighty women present expressed their obligation to Miss Okey for the helpful talk which accompanied the demonstration. Following the lecture the guests were invited to the flower garden in the rear of the house, a charming enclosure whose existence is not even suspected by the passerby. There, surrounded by roses and all the old fashioned flowers beloved by our grandmothers, the table was spread, from which dainty refreshments were served. Assisting the hostesses in this pleasing duty, were Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Mrs. John Geach, Mrs. Fred McCollum, Mrs. Fred Holden, Misses Letty and Lena Green, Evangeline Davies, Ethel Jones, and Clara Sheldon. A silver offering was taken for the A. F. F. W. which attested the popularity of this local organization for the relief of the wounded in France.

The extension of the Home Economic department of Ohio State University is wholly patriotic, and every community in the state would do well to profit by these lectures and demonstrations which it provides.

Mrs. James F. Baldwin of Poughkeepsie arrived in Granville yesterday for a visit with her husband's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Baldwin in West Elm street.

The Women's Missionary Organization of the Baptist church held the monthly meeting on Friday afternoon, July 6, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins presided and the interesting program on "Mexico, the Land of Unrest" was presented in papers read by Miss Laura Herrick and Miss Ruth Hopkins. Reports were made by the secretaries of the home and foreign departments. In lieu of the customary social hour with refreshments, Mrs. H. A. Nixon and Mrs W. E. Hopkins, secretaries of literature, presented a clever little advertising stunt, which was much enjoyed. Meeting adjourned early in order that the members might avail themselves of the privilege of hearing Miss Okey's lecture at the garden tea at the G. T. Jones home in East Elm street for the benefit of the A. F F. W.

The union meeting of all the churches will be held in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7 p m Rev. Otto Geisen of the Methodist church will preach.

HEALTH DEPT. TO SHOW DEVICE TO ASSURE PURE MILK

With the object of improving the quality of milk supplied to residents of Newark and vicinity, Dr. W. H. Knauss, health officer, and inspectors of the Licking Creamery company, will demonstrate to milk-producers a simple, home-made farm steam sterilizer for dairy utensils, designed by the dairy division, United States department of agriculture. The demonstrations will be held in the rooms of the Licking Creamery company, which have been kindly donated by it for this purpose, from July 23, to July 30, each business day between 7 a. m. and 9 a. m., and at such other hours as may be deemed best.

Experiments conducted by the United States department of agriculture show that unsterilized milk cans, pails, strainer cloths, and separator parts contaminate clean milk and tend to make it sour more quickly; to spoil its flavor; and to give it a high bacterial count by the time it reaches the city. Ordinary washing of utensils is not effective, as experiments show that as many as eight billion bacteria may remain in a washed milk can, and that cans, as ordinary washed, harbor millions of bacteria which affect all milk placed in them.

The device, which is lent to the local authorities by the United States department of agriculture, is that described in Farmers' Bulletin 748. The outfit can be made by tinsmiths at a cost not to exceed $10. When placed on an ordinary range or over a two-burner oil stove, which can be purchased for $5, or less, this apparatus generates steam enough to sterilize ordinary dairy utensils; thus milk has a chance to reach market in satisfactory condition. Dairymen interested in preventing the spoiling of milk and in delivering a clean, sweet-flavored product are urged to attend the demonstration.

Further information will be published from time to time.

Milady's Boudoir

The Restful Woman.

The man who is the fortunate husband of the restful woman is usually a brilliant success in his business or profession. He is often high strung, irasicible, as inconsistent as a woman is supposed to be. At the same time he is companionable and lovable. A man who demands everything of his nerves and brains has no business marrying who wants her own brains and nerves recognized.

The restful woman isn't young, possibly a year or so older than her husband, she isn't beautiful and she doesn't appear to be particularly brilliant mentally. But she knows how to be quiet, and there is just that about her that rests one just to be in her presence.

She talks very little but her listening is eloquent. Apparently she has no nerves, she never indulges in any of those nervous, futile habits that make one wish to scream to stop them at once. She is not constantly twisting a ring on her finger or snapping the catch on a purse, or fussing with a back comb, or jumping up every minute or so to fix something.

Her smile is generous it is understanding and her laugh it is like a chuckle that betokens a full breathed enjoyment. Her home is a haven for her husband; not a place where he is whipped up mentally to entertain someone nor where any strenuous efforts are made to entertain him.

It s the place where he recuperates where he is always welcome without any fuss being made over him, the place where strife ceases and a gentle undertaking begins.

For Weak Backs and Chests.

Round shoulders, hollow chests, enlarged hips and abdomen, and a generally pitable condition of the trunk of the body characterizes the majority of women. Most matrons consider that such a necessary thing as exercise is frivolous and should be indulged in only by the young. There is no age limit for healthful exercise and if adhered to with conscientious fidelity, weak backs and chests will disappear and an improvement in the organs of the trunk will be the sure result.

Prepare for these exercises by removing the corsets, wear loose clothing, and exercise for twenty minutes night and morning Lie flat on the floor and slowly raise the body to a sitting position. The arms may be kept close at the sides or extended on a level with the shoulders.

Repeat this several times as it strengthens the muscles of the abdomen and decreases any excess of fat about the hips and abdomen.

Drooping shoulders are the result of not making the best muscles do their work. Stand in an erect position and place the hands on the hips. Throw your shoulders back and up as far as you possibly can. This has a tendency to raise the chest and flatten the back.

Now raise the arms above the head keeping the hands as far apart as the shoulders. Palms turned inward. In this position bend the trunk low to the left and then to the right. Repeat this exercise until you feel fatigued then rest for a few moments.

The final movement consists of stretching the arms out straight at the sides on a level with the shoulders. Rotate the trunk from the waist, first to the right then to the left. This will make the muscles of the waist and back strong and supple.

Every prescription carefully compounded by Smith, the druggist. 1t

RURAL 'PHONES TO BE AUTOMATIC SAYS HOLLANDER

Manager Charles E. Hollander and Superintendent of Maintenance Guy Watkins of the Newark Telephone company will go to Chicago tomorrow to consult with the engineers of the Automatic Electric company and work out the final details of the automatic telephone system which the Newark Telephone company is about to install on the rural system of the Newark Telephone company's plant.

With the completion of the Granville automatic exchange, the farmers' lines leading from Granville were connected with the automatic system and the company is now planning to place all of the farmers' lines in the vicinity of Newark on the automatic system on account of the great success of the recent Granville installation. The switchboard for this extension has already been installed but the system when completed will be an improvement over the Granville system which is successful and pleasing to the rural subscribers of that vicinity.

While in Chicago Mr. Hollander expects to enter into a contract for telephones to equip the rural section and work of installing the new system will begin as soon as the manufacturers can make delivery of the instruments.

Every Day Etiquette

"In what order does the bridal party enter the room if there is one flower girl and a maid-of-honor?" asked Lucille.

"The bridegroom, clergyman and best man enter the room in which the ceremony is to be performed and stand facing the guests, awaiting the arrival of the bride, who enters the room alone or with her father. Immediately before her walks the maid-of-honor, who is preceded by the flower girl. The bridal party stands to form a segment of a circle," advised her mother.

"When marking linen or gifts for a bride, should her present or her future initial be used?" asked Gladys.

"Wedding gifts to a bride should be marked with her maiden name or initial. Some folks consider it unlucky to mark them with the bride's future name or initials," replied her aunt.

SENATE DEFEATS BONE DRY CLAUSE IN FOOD CONTROL

Washington, July 7.—At the close of a day of turbulent debate, and after voting 52 to 34 against the so-called bone dry amendment, the senate last night recessed until today in the midst of the prohibition fight on the food control bill.

Defeat of the bone dry proposal insures that legislation prohibiting manufacture of intoxicants will be limited to distilled beverages. Whether consumption as well as manufacture of distilled spirits shall cease during the war, a new element injected into the contest at the eleventh hour, completely disrupted leaders' well-laid plans and caused the recess for conference on a compromise.

After roll calls showing a considerable majority against stopping manufacture of beer and wines or giving the President power to suspend their manufacture, the senate voted 68 to 10 to prohibit the importation of distilled beverages and then by a vote of 45 to 40 tentatively adopted a provision prohibiting withdrawal of distilled spirits now held in bond for beverage purposes.

Both provisions, though voted on separately, are contained in an amendment by Senator Cummins, added to the so-called administration compromise substitute of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, prohibiting only manufacture of distilled beverages. The substitute was offered for the clause as drafted by the agriculture committee, which would place the question of beer and wine manufacture in the hands of the President.

Many senators who had planned to vote for the Robinson substitute promptly expressed their disapproval of the Cummins amendment, which they declared proposed virtual confiscation of 220,000,000 gallons of distilled beverages in bond without conserving any grain. They pointed out that the government would lose next year between $250,000,000 and $3000,000,000 in taxes and asserted that banks with loans upon distilled spirits might be put out of business.

The prohibition forces, however, were openly elated over the possibility of stopping consumption as well as manufacture of whiskey and other "hard" beverages.

Today the fight will center upon an effort to eliminate the Cummins amendment, upon reconsideration, or by compromise. Pending when the senate recessed last night was a proposed compromise amendment by Senator Reed which would authorize the President to permit withdrawal of distilled spirits from the bonded warehouses if he believes it in the public interests.

Upon disposition of the prohibition section, the senate leaders expect to seek an agreement for a final vote upon the food bill as a whole next Wednesday or Thursday.

RECEIVER FOR THE COLUMBUS MONITOR

Columbus, O., July 7.—The Columbus Daily Monitor, a Republican "dry" newspaper, established July 10, 1916, was thrown into receivership on application of creditors yesterday. E. Howard Gilkey, who had been editor, was named receiver. Judge Dillon, who entered the receivership order, directed that publication of the daily and Sunday editions be suspended immediately. He directed, however, that the property be sold at the earliest opportunity.

COLUMBUS DRAFT PLOTTERS SENT TO PRISON TWO YEARS

Columbus, July 7.—Ammon A. Hennacy and Harry E. Townsley must serve two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for plotting to defeat the draft.

Federal Judge Sater yesterday, after overruling the motion of Attorney Moses B. Earnhart for a new trial, passed that sentence.

Hennacy, who refused to register, also must serve nine months in the Delaware county jail after his release at Atlanta.

Asked by Judge Sater what he had to say, Hennacy heatedly remarked:

"I have done nothing that a patriotic citizen of this country should not do. I opposed registration and conscription because this war was unjust."

Attorney Earnhart commented on the leniency of the judge in not assessing the additonal $10,000 fine, which would mean about 20 more years for the prisoners.

Where Lost Gold Goes.

Within the last 500 years one thousand million pounds' worth of gold has vanished.

Where have the missing millions gone?

About one-third lies at the bottom of the sea. The treasure of lost vessels which strews the route from England to India alone has been estimated at eighty million sterling.

In 1798 the British frigate De Brook, wrecked off the American coast, took with her into the depths of the ocean gold worth £2,400,000, the spoils of an intercepted Spanish treasure fleet. Another British warship, the Hussar, went down with over a million sterling in gold in 1780, and another million was lost in the Lutine in 1799.

Much gold, too, is lost through wear and tear. It is a soft metal in its natural state, and despite the alloys used to make it harder it wears away comparatively quickly when coined into money. It is the same with jewelry. In these ways and a hundred others the gold gained by men through sweat and blood finds its way back to the earth whence it came.—London Opinion.

Royal Names.

Nicholas Romanoff is the name by which the late czar is mentioned in the Russian papers. But it may be doubted whether this is a correct use of the word Romanoff, for monarchs, who sign by their Christian names only, are not supposed to have surnames. In the early days, when both surnames and customs were in the making, they did not need them, and (except in case of dethronement, and not always then) they have never needed them since. Contrary to popular belief, Plantagenet was not a surname. Tudor may have been one, and Stuart certainly was. But Guelph was not, and so good an authority as Mr. Fox-Davies holds that the present king of England has no surname at all. Less learned authorities have been perplexed to know whether the descendants of Queen Victoria did not inherit the surname of their father, the prince consort.

A Queen Off Duty.

The neatness of her figure was accentuated by a dress of the vogue, and she bore herself with the graceful freedom of an unspoiled queen of the period when royalty did not wear corsets. She was half a block ahead of me when I first noted her unaffected stateliness, continues a writer in the New York Sun. Perhaps my attention was drawn to her by the admiration of everybody within periscopic range, the concentrated worship of the hypnotized multitude impelling me to follow its example. I walked faster and, as the sailors say, was soon abeam of her. I passed her, and as I did so I fear I violated polite precedents by viewing her askance.

I recognized her instantly. She is my married sister's cook, and, as my brother-in-law has remarked, "She is some cook!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Jerusalem Chamber.

One of the rooms in Westminster abbey that are of peculiar interest is the Jerusalem chamber, which was built more than 500 years ago and was probably at one time the abbot's withdrawing room. It was in this chamber that Henry IV. died, in curious fulfillment of a prophecy that he should die in Jerusalem:

It hath been prophesied me many a year
I shall not die but in Jerusalem,
Which vainly I suppose the Holy Land,
But bear me to that chamber. There I'll lie.
In that Jerusalem shall Harry die.

And in the same chamber Addison, Congreve and Prior lay in state before their splendid interment in the abbey.

Had a Good Excuse.

Dorothy, aged 4, was present at dinner the other evening when a number of guests were being entertained by her parents, and during the lull in the conversation she began to talk very earnestly: "Why do you talk so much, Dorothy?" asked her father. NEWARK COLORED MEN ASKED TO JOIN VOLUNTEER UNITS

The Newark branch of the African-American Patriotic society met in the K. of P. Hall last evening and listened to addresses by Walter P. Thomas, Captain Chas. Henry and others, regarding the duty which the negro citizens of the state owe to the government. The meeting was called for the purpose of interesting the young men of the city in the organization of a negro volunteer regiment of infantry, with headquarters at Columbus and whose services will be tendered President Woodrow Wilson. It is probable htat a large number of Newark's colored citizens will join, the enlisting period expiring next Tuesday night.

CHICAGO GRAIN.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, July 7.—Active buying on the part of commission houses swept the corn market upward again today. Opening quotations which ranged from the same as yesterday's [illegible] to 1 3-4 cents higher with September [illegible] 1.55 to 1.56 1-4 and December at 1.14 1-2 to 1.16 1-2 were followed by gains all around that carried December to an 1.17 1-2.

Decided further gains were scored owing to complaints of unseasonably cool weather. The close was nervous at 1 3-8 cents to 3 3-4 cents net advance.

Wheat sagged owing to neglect. After opening 2 lower with July at 2.10 and September nominal, the market descended to 2.09 July.

Subsequently, the market showed more firmness, apparently influenced by the bulge in corn. The close was unsettled at five cents net lower to two cents advance with July 207 and September 1 94.

Oats were firmer in sympathy with corn. Moderate advances, though, brought rather free offerings.

Scattered demand for lard and ribs lifted provisions a little. However, realizing by holders soon caused a reaction.

WALL STREET.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, July 7.—Rails, shippings and oils led the list to higher levels at the outset of today's short session, averaging gains of a point. Motors, the less active equipments and metals were fractionally higher, while Industrial Alcohol and Malting Preferred features the specialties at advances of 1 to 2 points. United States Steel showed only slight improvement at the opening but soon hardened with allied issues. Coalers were in demand, Reading and Pittsburgh Coal rising about 2 points each. Strength was also shown by New York Central and Union Pacific. Distillers Securities was the only heavy issue, losing three points.

Week-end covering of short contracts imported strength to today's short session on a very light turnover. Leading shares in the railway, industrial, metal and equipments divisions scored extreme gainst of 1 to 2 1-2 points. Among specialties the movement was more uneven, some of those issues advancing 1 to 3 points, while a few others, notably General Motors and Distillers Securities were heavy at times. Reading led the rails with pronounced strength rose a substantial fraction with shares of the same class. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 275,000 shares. Bonds were irregular, the Liberty issue holding steady at premiums of 1-50 to 2-50.

NEWARK WOMEN TO HELP WIN WAR BY SAVING FOODSTUFFS

Newark women will be asked to participate in the food conservation program proposed by Herbert C. Hoover, U. S. Food Administrator.

Next week they will be asked to sign a pledge and follow simple rules which will not work a hardship on anyone and which ought to be followed in peace or in war.

The pledge reads: "I am glad to join in the service of food conservation and I hereby accept membership in the U. S. Food Association pledging myself to carry out and advice of the food administrator in conducting my household as far as my circumstances permit."

The six rules which Newark women will be asked to observe are simple in the extreme by the Council of National Defense claims that their observance will result in the saving of millions of pounds of foodstuffs. The rules are: 1. Buy with thought. 2. Cook with care. 3. Serve just enough. 4. save what will keep. 5. Eat what will spoil. 6. prefer home grown food.

The signed cards will be sent to Washington and each woman will be mailed a card indicating that she has enlisted in the conservation movement, and two cards bearing the six rules, one to hang in the kitchen and the other over the telephone.

The work is being undertaken by patriotic Newark women who have organized for a house to house canvass next week.

AUDITORIUM.

FREDRIK, THE GREAT.

Frederick the Great, the Marvelous who is giving his audiences at the Auditorium theatre a most wonderful and entertaining exhibition of his skill of hand and aptness of mind, is a keen philosopher in the issues of life. He demonstrated the phase of his character while in Cleveland recently, in the following incident, quoted by one of the city papers.

Poorly clad, and several day's growth of wiry beard on his chin, a man approached Frederick the Great, the magician, on Mitchell street, and said, in a voice full of appeal, "Mister can't you please give me a dime. I'm broke and hungry." Frederik the Great, playing at the Prospect keenly eyed the man and then said, rather severely: "What do you mean by claiming to be out of funds when you have money in your pocket?" The tramp was taken back at this, but finally declared with emphasis that he did not possess a penny in the world.

Thereupon Fredrik the Great thrust an apparently empty hand into the pocket of the fellow's coat and drew forth a dime. The tramp looked upon the coin as it dropped into his soiled palm. "A curse goes with that dime if it is spent for booze," said the magician as he turned to wait for a street car. Before the car arrived, he felt a tug at his sleeve and turning about, found the panhandler at his elbow. "say", said he, "won't you take pity on a feller and remove the curse from that dime?"

Fredrik will be seen at the Auditorium today for the last times and those who miss his performances will surely miss a grand treat, for he is perhaps the greatest performer of his kind in the world.

SUNDAY PROGRAM.

Too much heralded and looked for scheen version of the ever popular psychological drama, "The Witching Hour," by Augustine Tuomas, will have its initial showing at the Auditorium theatre, tomorrow, Sunday.

This attraction has been rated on the legitimate stage as the most intensely dramatic play produced in the last decade. Of the many successes written by Augustus Thomas, "The Witching Hour" has had a longer run on Broadway, in New York, than any of the others.

This wonderful photoplay, which in stage form made thousands of dollars for the owners is being brought to Newark at a great expense by the Auditorium management and will be seen tomorrow together with Charlie Chaplin, Mutual's $670,000 a year funny man, who next season will get One Million Dollars for Eight pictures from the National Exhibitor's Association. Chaplin offers to Auditorium patrons Sunday, "The Immigrant," and Manager Fenberg promises his patrons that they sure will hug themselves, roll about in their seats, slap each other rear, guffaw, shout, titter, snicker, crow, chirp and cackle, according to their various dispositions, at this newest ebullition of merriment, jocosity, buffoonery, tomfoolery, mummery, pleasantry and wit of the world's fun. A program tomorrow that will please all.

GOOD PICTURE TODAY.

Should you visit the Auditorium today you will enjoy the picture, Stuart Holmes in "The Broadway Sport" and Pathe News, with latest current events. In "The Broadway Sport" you are sure to enjoy it largely because it is funny, not farcial; because it has a plot which is new and which is off the beaten track; because it is told in a novel and unique manner and is entertaining withal; because it represents the attainment of "The Golden Mean." In effecting a happy combination of drama and comedy; because it shows life from one extreme to the other; from the sleepy, slow-moving existence of the small town to the dizzy pace of the unthinking "White Light" crowd.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

Charles Chaplin, world famous comedian, yesterday announced that he had signed a contract to produce eight pictures in a year for the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, an organization composed of some of the leading motion picture firms in the country.

Recently Mutual offered him $1,000,000 for twelve pictures, but he turned down this proposition.

As an added feature Charlie Chaplin is seen in "The Immigrant." The famous comedian manages to "put over" several new and funny incidents and novel Chaplinisms and you are sure to laugh at this his newest abuilition of merriment, jocosity, buffoonery, tomfoolery, mummery, pleasantry. The steerage dining room and deck scenes in the tossing ship are the funniest parts of thep icture ad give him a great chance to display his famous walk from a new angle. The restaurant scenes are also funny. If its to laugh, be sure and see Chaplin at the Auditorium tomorrow.

"THE INNER SHRINE."

A treat is in store for picture fans who visit the Auditorium for two days starting Monday next. The popular stage star Margaret Illington, supported by Hobart Bosworth, Elliott Dexter, Jack Holt and others will be seen in Basil King's wonderful story, "The Inner Shrine." Miss Illington's name linked with that of a strong cast, in a great story, in a Paramount Production, should be the means of packing this theatre during the two day showing of the wonderful picture. As an extra added feature the Pathe News with the latest events on the European War will be shown.

STOCK COMPANY, JULY 16.

Manager Fenberg is going to find out just what will please and draw summer crowds to the Auditorium, for he is arranging to offer a stock company for a few weeks—that many mean if the business warrants. The Auditorium Stock company will make its initial bow to Newark audiences on Monday night, July 16th, opening in one of the greatest stage successes of a decade "Within the Law."

"PATRIA."

"Patria" with Mrs. Verne Castle, Episode No. 3 will be seen at the Auditorium next Wednesday together with Sessue Hayakawa, in "The Jaguar's Claws."

PATHE NEWS MONDAY.

Pathe News, No. 50, with world events brought right to your feet, will be seen at the Auditorium Monday. This feature is screened together with Margaret Illington, who is seen in "The Inner Shrine."

ALHAMBRA.

SUNDAY.

H. B. Warner, the noted actor, has joined the Selig Company and Miss Violet Heming, the popular actress, has been selected as his new leading lady. The first drama in which they will appear is "The Danger Trail" released in K. E. S. E. service. It is a thrilling drama of the snow country. Warner's career is too well known to need rehearsal here. Violet Heming was born on the Isle of Man. She is of a theatrical family. She supported George Arliss and played "Rebecca" in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." W Lawson Butt plays the role of Jean Croiset the half-breed. Butt is an English actor who created the role of "Boris" in "The Garden of Allah." Richard Thornton is another clever actor in the drama. "The Danger Trail" is announced for Sunday at the Alhambra theatre.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

Rollin S. Sturgeon, who is directing Gail Kane's five-reel feature productions at the American-Mutual studios in Santa Barbara and who has just completed "Whose Wife?" a strong love interest photodrama based on the story of Cecil Henry Bullivant, is one of the foremost directors in the United States.

Before becoming a director, Mr. Sturgeon was widely known as a scenario writer. Among the many important productions for which he was responsible are "The Life of Moses," "The Tale of Two Cities," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "How States are Made," "The Chalice of Courage," "God's Country and the Woman," "Through the Wall," and many Shakespearean plays.

Mr. Sturgeon is an enthusiastic horseman and golfer. He is said to think up most of his important features while chiveying a golf ball over the countryside. Mis Kane says he is the "most human" director she ever met in her life.

"THE IMMIGRANT"

Charles Chaplin
Mutual Comedian

The world has no more picturesque figure than the immigrant, who, during normal times, knocks Daily by the thousands at Uncle Sam's gate. If you have ever visited Castle Garden in New York harbor you have some idea of the immigrant in all his pathos—and his joy, the latter occasioned by his safe arrival at last in "The Golden Land." It has remained for CHARLIE CHAPLIN to catch and transplant to the screen the humorous side of the immigrant, and with his knack of being able to find fun in everything, CHAPLIN, in this character, is — well, he's CHARLIE CHAPLIN, and for fun purposes what more could be desired?

INFORMATION IS LACKING ON THE DRAFT METHODS

Washington, July 7.—Selection day for the new national army is approaching rapidly as the local exemption boards in the various states complete their organization, give serial numbers to the registration cards and forward certified copies to Provost Marshal General Crowder Indications are that the drawing will be held next week, but no official statement has been made as to the war department's plans

Administration officials still maintain strict silence as to the method to be followed With the recent statement by Secretary Baker that the drawing would be held in Washington, however, coupled with the stress laid upon the serial numbering of registration cards the general outline of the plan is clearly indicated.

It is understood that it is proposed to place in a single jury wheel in Washington one complete set of numbers When a number is taken from the wheel, the man in each exemption district whose card bears that serial number will be drafted. Thus as each number is drawn, approximately 30,000 men will be drafted or one in each exemption district If 1,200,000 men are to be called before the exemption boards in the first selection which seems highly probable, only 40 numbers would need to be drawn

There are numerous complications which must arise, however, and the method of solving them can be known only when the administration makes known its plans in detail For instance the number of registered individuals in each district who are liable for military service will certainly not be the same. Aliens are registered, but not liable for duty

All this must be considered in framing the regulations Provision must be made also to balance as far as possible the chances of military duty between the men in each district, so that disqualification of a large number in any particular district for any reason will not put upon those qualified additional likelihood of being sent to the front

Various ways of accomplishing this correction of chances so as to make the resulting draft as fair as human ingenuity can contrive have been suggested The matter has had President Wilson's personal consideration, in line with his pledge that the method employed would be just in every respect

While the first contingent of the new army, under the bill, is limited to 500,000 men, an additional 125,000 or 150,000 will be needed to make up the reserve battalions of this force. Reserve battalions are now being recruited for all regular regiments and will be recruited for the National Guard when it is drafted into the federal service The organization of the national army will be on the same basis.

It may be necessary also to draft enough men to fill up the regulars and National Guard to war strength, although no decision to this end has been reached as yet The regulars are now close to war strength and the guard units are recruiting rapidly. If possible, they will be completed by the war volunteer system.

There is one other consideration which will effect the total number of men to be drawn. Opinion varies as to the number of exemptions which must be made for the various causes outlined in the exemption regulations. A rough estimate of at least 50 per cent exemptions for physical or other reasons has been generally employed in computing the probable size of the task before the exemption boards.

It is not known whether the government plans to call double the number of men actually needed on the first selection in order to provide against these exemptions Possibly only the smaller number will be taken to be filled out by later selections until the ranks are full. If the exemption factor is allowed for the first drawing however, it seems likely that 1,000,000 or 1,500,000 names would be provided for at that time. the men to appear for examination in the order in which they were drawn and the cards of those not reached in any district where the quota was fixed before they came up before the board to be returned.

Another factor which is being worked out in the selection regulations is the provision of the law requiring that each state be given credit at the drawings for the number of men it has supplied as volunteers in the regular army or the National Guard.

Latest reports to the war department show the total strength of the National Guard now is something over 366,660. More than 100,000 men are still needed to bring the guard up to war strength, and vacancies probably will have to be filled by draft.

A gain of more than 30,000 enlisted men is shown for the last 10 days of June. Only a portion of this number represents enlistments during the period, however, the toll being swollen by official federal recognition of a number of National Guard units recently authorized and formed.
